being scattered over the marshy land near the tracks. Hardly a passenger-escaped unhurt.

SCORES CHOPPED FROM WRECKAGE.

The above-mentioned detailed bodies were taken from the wreckage. Scores of persons were picked up by firemen and volunteers. These special trains brought thirty of the injured into the South station, where they were seen by twelve ambulance attendants and police and hospital wagons were rushed to the wreck. More than a dozen physicians from South Boston were summoned.

The injured were taken to hospitals all through Boston.

According to railroad men who started an investigation, the train was going forty miles an hour. It left the tracks on a long curve, along which an embankment had been built. The investigation was made by the fact that the embankment was weak, caused the disaster. Another explanation was that there was a defect in the locomotive.

Engine Crew Killed.

The train was made up of the locomotive, two passenger coaches, a combination smoking car and baggage coach, and a long baggage car. The engine crew was killed.

Drivers seated in the terrible moment, the engine took the turn for fifty feet and then slipped off the rails. The engine was derailed, and the train was thrown into the air. CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Colonel Roosevelt, declaring that "everything is done, by George," today planned with characteristic energy into the fight he will wage to lead the Progressive ticket—Roosevelt and Johnson—in the White House. With the nomination of the "heroic" Roosevelt, Roosevelt and Johnson are planning to make the most vigorous contest of their strenuous political careers.

Senator Dixon, who has stood with Roosevelt ever since his last was through the fight, will not doubt manage the aggressive campaign that it is to be. Colonel Roosevelt will confer with Dixon and other members of his national committee today.

Colonel Roosevelt's popularity is increasing by leaps and bounds. Governor Johnson of California is a fighter after his own heart, and when they both get out on the stump, it is evident that Progressive doctrines will get a presentation that will command attention.

$584,785 SAVED BY MRS. CLARK

LET TALKERMAN OUT ON BAIL

Mrs. Helen Agnew Clark, of Marlboro street, the wealthy widow of the late George L. Clark, son of John M. Clark, who was known in his lifetime as Suffolk County's millionaire sheriff, brought suit today in the Suffolk Superior Court for $584,785.17, against William C. Hawes of New Bedford, J. Whittier Trevelyan of Boston and Jere Collins of Arlington, members of the stock brokerage firm of Hawes, Trevelyan & Co. of Boston.

The Hawes firm alone claims that he has lost more than half a million dollars dealing with the defendants "on margin" between September 1, 1909, and January 30, 1912. The plaintiff characterized the transactions for judgment with the firm as "gambling and wasteful contracts contrary to Chapter 10 of the Revised Laws."

Mrs. Clark owns an administration of the estate of her husband, who died several months ago. The suit recalled family and court incidents of more than ten years ago when the Clark estate first began to be dealt with by the defendants. It was through the Clark estate that the defendants were able to obtain a large sum of money from the estate of the late George L. Clark.

Mrs. Seely Doesn't Know She Is Mother of Quadruplets

While four tiny miles of humanity are fighting for their existence in incubators at the Dorchester Cottage Hospital, the mother, Mrs. F. H. Seely, of No. 60 Newbury avenue, is slowly recovering her strength, ignorant of the fact that she has borne four babies.

For the present the physicians have expediently refused to disclose the number by telling her she has four quadruplets.

Miss F. Seely, mother of the four, said today that this is the most painful of quadruplets born in Boston. On June 18, 1910, a woman at the Homeopathic Hospital gave birth to four children, three girls and a boy, and all four expired a few hours later.

The four babies are now entering on the third day of their existence, and as they grow normal, hopes are held forth that they will live.

The quadruplets are kept in a baby incubator and every two hours are taken out and fed.

Mrs. Seely, who is employed by the tattered shoe machinery, and who, as yet, spends a part of each day with her mother, is now recovering from the shock of the birth.

Miss Dennis is an all-around athlete, tennis player and horsewoman, and can swim like a fish. She is a native of Boston, and is a friend of Governor Wilson's daughter, Marjorie.

Whitman Dogs in Private Car $10,000,000 Bride Comes East

MRS. M. D. WHITMAN.

California Belle Brings Whole Carload of Her Blooded Pets to Her New York Home.

Mrs. Matilda Douglas Whitman, who was Miss Jeanie Adeline Crocker, the $10,000,000 California bride, is coming East next week, following her honeymoon trip, with a whole carload of blooded dogs. She became the bride on July 27th of the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Whitman of Brookline. Her husband was formerly the words champion tennis player. He is now practicing law in New York. The newly-married couple are to take a prominent place in the society life of New York and Boston.

Dogs have long been the hobby of Mrs. Whitman. Her Woodstock Kennels, at her home near New York, have been famous for prize winning French bulls and Boston terriers.

It was reported last Spring, when she was visiting her mother's parents here, that after her marriage she would give up her dogs. A dispatch to the AMERICAN today from Omaha dispels all doubts as to this.

The Omaha Pacific Railway officials have fully satisfied that Mrs. Whitman is coming California late this week with two private cars, one of which she and her mother will occupy, and the other which will be exclusively for the dogs. Just how many canines she will bring East is not known. Mrs. Whitman's dogs, which she has owned since she was a child, are of various breeds, including English bulldogs, French bulldogs, and Boston terriers. She has a large number of dogs, and she is very fond of them. She has a large number of dogs, and she is very fond of them. She has a large number of dogs, and she is very fond of them.

Going to the

DON'T FORGET

NOT CRAZY YET, BUT—!

By MORTON BIRGE

Cheer up! If you're not crazy yet you may be by-and-by.

You may have shingles of your roof before you up and die.

The rats may get your garage roof forever and for aye.

Says Winslow.

This Winslow is a doctor in that Dear Old "Lantern" Town.

He says we're growing madder every time the sun goes down.

And that in time we folks will be all Spain cheese in the oven.

That's Winslow.

The prospect for the future is some serious and sad.

In fact, you may be going mad. Your case may be as bad

As Winslow's.

Q—You and your brother Dan occupied the same room prior to 1887?

A—Yes, most of the time.

Dakota Dan testified at the last trial that he and the brother shared over an open window in their sleeping room.

Q—Didn't Dakota Dan testify that a partition was built separating the two rooms on account of their bad smelling open windows?

A—I didn't know that he had so much to say about it.

Q—Is it true that such a thing had been built?

A—Yes, William C. Russell said that if Dakota Dan testified to that he didn't think it a fair test as to the identity of his brother.

Q—What do you consider a fair test as to how you could identify your brother?

A—Russell replied, "A proper test would be to tell of things not open to the observation of others."

Q—Were there such things? A—Yes.

Asked About Interview.

Q—How long was Miss Almy a member of your household before 1887?

A—She visited there about twice a year before that.

Q—Who are the companions of your household now who were there before 1887?

A—Only myself and my brother.

Q—Did you test Fessie Dan on some thing only known to you and your brother?

A—Yes.

Q—When were present at that interview?

A—Russell testified some time.

He appeared to be trying to remember what place in the Russell home.

Q—Didn't Almy first tell you that it was that interview it was I can't tell the parties present.

A—Russell finally said that Bertha York, Mrs. York and Robert and Edward Allen were present at his interview with Fessie Dan.

Q—Did you send for Bertha York?

A—Yes.

Q—Why? A—She was the last person to see my mother before she left.

Bertha York and Daniel Blake were quite young.

Q—Didn't she and Daniel Blake Russell take a trip to Cambridge together?

A—No, that I don't know about.

Q—Did anything ever take place in that house that you don't know about?

A—How can I be sure that I don't know about it?

WOMEN'S TERMS STR SISTERS

American suffrage leaders today defended the English suffragettes who were imprisoned in Dublin, Mrs. Mary Leigh and Miss Gladys Evans, for five years' terms, and vigorously denounced the men who put them behind the bars.

Mrs. Susan J. Fitzgerald, secretary of the Massachusetts Women's Suffrage Association, declared that the English suffragettes did not do as they thought it right and would go to prison just as willingly in support of their cause.

Miss Mrs. Milford, at Newport, declared that women, in setting fire to the theatre at Dublin, did only what the men did when they wanted the ballot, only the men burned Nottingham Castle.

The women who are in the suffrage movement are willing to pay for what they do in their fight for votes. We are asked to put our sisters in England. If we were called on here to wage a campaign of force as the English women are willing to do, we would do the same as they did in Dublin.

Of course, the sentence passed on Mrs. Leigh and Miss Evans was terrible, severe. I don't want to criticize the British courts. I know nothing of them. I feel the women's imprisonment very keenly as a supporter of the cause. I know Mrs. Leigh by reputation. I know many of the English suffragettes and I heartily sympathize with them in their time of trial.

FIRE ENGINE MAY DRAIN PIT FOR LOST BOY'S BODY

Henry J. Connelley, Cambridge, Commissioner of Public Safety, conferred with Chief Butler of the Cambridge fire department today regarding the use of a steam fire engine for pumping the water from the dead-end pit, in which it is feared a seven-year-old Richard D'Arcy was drowned. Commissioner Connelley thought a steam engine might prove a quicker means of emptying the pit than by laying pipes to connect with the Cambridge sewer. It is said enough water could be pumped off in a few hours to make the search of the bottom easy.

City employees, acting under orders of Mayor Barry of Cambridge, used grappling irons in dragging the pit today. The men worked from a specially constructed boat. The surface of the pit had been cleared of its refuse and debris.

Ask American's Help.
The AMERICAN has received the following letter in the D'Arcy case.

Editor of the AMERICAN:
A mother in Cambridge is heart-broken and a father distracted over the disappearance of their child. The little fellow has been missing since Saturday, and except for the fact that a couple of policemen have been carefully dragging a nearby pond for the body and one or two persons have searched in the neighborhood in a haphazard way for traces of little Richard, nothing has been done.

I cannot believe that it is due to any lack of interest or sympathy with the child's parents that no organized search has been made, but it is due to the fact that the police in authority have issued a general alarm or issued a call for help to conduct a search.

Cambridge has a newly appointed Commissioner of Public Safety. It seems to me he is in a position to prove the benefit to the city of his appointment, and I believe it is his duty in this matter to start at once a carefully planned and organized search, which will at least satisfy all interested that it is not his duty to determine whether or not the body lies in any body of water or out-of-the-way spot. The grief of the stricken parents must be insatiable at the present time, and I feel that a call for help to conduct a search.

Frank Boy May Be Lost.
I understand that the boy was not very rugged. What was more plausible than that he may have wandered off toward the nearby woods or swamp, and perhaps have been injured in some manner that prevented his returning home? Within a few minutes' walk of his home across the road to Concord avenue from the entrance to Fresh Pond is a large of cypress, underbrush and swampland that would furnish favorable hiding places.

But a short distance away is the old Bay State clay pit. Frequently little fellows are seen there on rafts. The company owning the pit has a pump- ing plant on it for the purpose of keep- ing the water down to a level that will not hinder the boys from enjoy- ing themselves.

This plant could easily drain the water from the pit in thirty-six hours, when possible, of carefully dragged.

It seems to me there is a duty fac- ing the police at Cambridge, which calls for a person in authority to sound the call for volunteers and others to aid in a well-planned search.

The men should be divided into small par- ties, each party assigned each territory as they could cover thoroughly in a day. And not only every piece of waste, swamp and unfrequented spot had been combed down, and every pit drained, when possible, of carefully dragged.

May Call Volunteers.
William D'Arcy, father of Richard D'Arcy, plans to call for volunteers to help the search.

Mr. D'Arcy, however, wants first to make sure the body is in the Fresh Pond clay pit, near his home at No. 41 Clifton street.

Arrests are daily watched the search. Officers' pit on Concord avenue, two streets away, has been thoroughly dragged.

The boy's father insists to the belief that the body may be in the smaller pit.

The boy expressed a desire last Satur- day to visit his grandfather, Mr. Mar- garet D'Arcy, near line at No. 129 Home avenue, a few streets' walk from the Fresh Pond clay pit.

FREE SEATS FOR PILGRIM GAMES

The Pilgrims are putting up a new series of ball. Johnny Kling's men are showing the men better than they have at any time this season. They are playing together and naturally winning games.

RELY'S COLUMN

"HINIE" WAGNER is today's hero. "Hinie" could not quite win a baseball game. But his slugging triple in the eighth inning of the last game with the "Naps" saved the Red Sox from being beaten and kept Cleveland from dividing the series, two and two. The Sox quit Cleveland with two games out of three in hand and just took the "edge" for the eleventh inning margin of Trimble.

PILGRIMS SEEK TO FUEL SERIES

The Pilgrims and the Reds will mingle in the final game of their series today. Manager Kling is anxious to get an even break, as it is probable he will give his men such a talking over, on account of their home playing yesterday, that they will come back to some of form this afternoon, and show the way for D'Or's play.

Red Sox Open Against the Tigers
Jennings Out to Dethrone Stahl

DETROIT, Aug. 8.—The Boston Red Sox, happy in the fact that they are leading in the American League race, arrived in town today for a four-game series with the Tigers.

RACE FOR TITLE
A BEACH OVAL

A star aggregation of bike racers will afford some interesting competition at the Haverly Cycle track when Elmer Collins, the American middle distance champion, makes his local debut for the season next Saturday night. In addition to Collins, the paced game will show George Wiley of Seattle and Clarence George of Newark.

WASHINGTON took it out of the White Sox, 10 to 1, in the meantime, as we lead them by four 1/2 games today.

Continuing to demonstrate his value to the Red Sox, today's ball game, Cleveland, preferred, Bill Sweency carried his hit for a day's average of 1,000, which took him to second base, one a double, Mitchell, Grant and Carter did a lot of heavy work for the Sox.

Mitchell's cures proved too much for Gardner and he fanned. Stahl, however, was good for a hit to right. The speedy pitcher would have been out at home for several feet. Jackson, following his catch, made a perfect throw to the plate.

Early in the week, Alfred Grenda of Australia, champion of the Antipodes, was signed to ride an unlimited pursuit race, and yesterday Jimmy Moran of Chicago was selected for the job.

OLD DIAMOND BELIEFS TRODDEN UNDER FOOT BASEBALL PROBLEM FOR FANS TO DOPE

By BILL BAILEY
There are some who will keep you guessing for awhile.
Why is it that all the top-notch hitters in the American League are outfielders, while the fellows who are considered the clunkers in the National are infielders?
Why? I don't know. I'm not going to tell you. Just the same, it is a fact.
Look at the fellows who are on top in the American League. Cobb is in the lead. Not surprising at all. Next comes Speaker. Then Rogers. Then the Cleveland Naps. Then comes Jones. There is his front name and he formerly chased fire for the Cubs. Now he is with Detroit. Then follows Baker of the Athletics. Probably he's necessary to give his front name. Certainly not in New York, where he was much in prominence during the world's series days. These are the five leading hitters in the American League. Four of them are outfielders and the fifth is a third baseman.

Fighters Have to Show Nerve in New Mexico

Full Knight and Young Yvelin had a trying experience when they fought in Albuquerque, New Mexico, the other night. The bout was billed for twenty rounds. The night of the wrap Captain Fred Young of the New Mexico Mounted Police, who stopped the Johnson-Pyle bout, jumped into the ring and saw to it that the fight was not continued. The fight will not go on. The referee, who was a cowboy, told the fighters to get out of the ring. The fighters, who were a cowboy and a cowboy, were told to get out of the ring. The fighters, who were a cowboy and a cowboy, were told to get out of the ring.

"BEING A REAL MAN" TOO MUCH OF A LURE TO JACK NOT A CHANCE NOW FOR JOHNSON TO BATTLE

By ED W. SMITH.
The first real sensation of "being a real man" proved too strong for Jack Johnson. That's why he announced his retirement and followed it up with the further statement that he would not fight any more. Johnson is the one champion who will retire and say "good-bye" to the ring. He found that a real untrained fellow, five from the thought of diet and without exercise as far as swimming and drinking are concerned, and with a considerable range of remorse at the possibility of loss of athletic power, is the only life for him.

Beals Wright Wins R. I. Tennis Title

PROVIDENCE, Aug. 8.—Beals C. Wright of Boston, captured the Rhode Island tennis title today by defeating E. A. Kennedy, Jr., of Philadelphia, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2. The game was played at the Rhode Island Tennis Club. Wright's showing was not as creditable as it had been against Allen. He was too evidently fighting against not only Wright's skill, but also the reputation as a national tennis star, and thought he might be able to win the title. The consolation was won by J. M. Van of Providence, who defeated Dan Kennedy of Boston 14-12, 8-6.

What Roosevelt Believes in 1912

Our Readers Believed All of It—and More—in 1900. None the Less It is Well to Have the Old Ideas and Principles Put Out Under New Names

Copyright, 1912, by American-Journal Examiner

The bull moose political baby is born—a healthy baby and an enthusiastic birth.

The people will hear more of this baby, and more of the new party, as the campaign progresses. Newspapers that belittle the Roosevelt movement and believe that they can obtain results with insincere criticisms and sneers will be disappointed. The people of this country are ready for something new, something different from the old machine rearing.

And Roosevelt, in spite of past mistakes, sudden shifting, probable future blunders and much public misgiving, will have an attentive hearing from the ninety million of citizens, women, babies, Indians and idiots in this country.

Readers of this newspaper more than any other body of citizens will consider with interest the Roosevelt program which is handed out as new.

The ideas that Roosevelt now offers to the nation with his endorsement OUR READERS HAVE DISCUSSED AND INDORSED FOR YEARS PAST.

Roosevelt, before he made his speech and enunciated "His" ideas, expressed his belief that many would call him an anarchist or a Socialist when they learned what he thought.

Hundreds of thousands of our readers can remember the day when Mr. Roosevelt himself used to call this newspaper anarchistic and socialistic BECAUSE IT EXPOUNDED AND INDORSED THE VERY IDEAS WHICH HE GIVES OUT TODAY AS NEW.

Mr. Roosevelt indorses the plain truth that women should be allowed to vote and have their share in the government of the country.

Our readers have long discussed and indorsed that plain truth.

Mr. Roosevelt demands the election of United States Senators by popular vote.

For many years in this newspaper and other Hearst papers our readers have read editorials demanding that the election of Senators be taken away from a handful of purchasable Legislators and given to the people, who alone should have the power.

Mr. Roosevelt indorses the INITIATIVE, which would let the people start legislation for themselves; the REFERENDUM, which would compel legislative bodies to give the people a chance to pass upon important legislation; and the RECALL, which would permit the people to discharge unfaithful servants.

Our readers know how long and how earnestly we have insisted upon those measures.

The strengthening of the pure food law is one of Mr. Roosevelt's new ideas.

Insurance, old age pensions for employees, Mr. Roosevelt thinks, are needed.

Regulation of the conditions of labor, limitation of the hours of work for women, PROHIBITION OF CHILD LABOR—these are some of Mr. Roosevelt's exciting NEW IDEAS; our readers have discussed and thought and talked upon those subjects for many years past.

Mr. Roosevelt advocates INTERNAL WATERWAY IMPROVEMENTS. Our readers also advocate such improvements. And in New York City the readers of one of the Hearst papers, the Evening Journal, actually passed the canal bill—and appropriated the money that is now building the large canal from Buffalo to New York. And every politician in New York knows THAT WAS DONE BY THE READERS OF THE NEW YORK EVENING JOURNAL.

Mr. Roosevelt believes in government ownership of Alaska railroads. Our readers will smile at that feeble dose of public ownership doctrine. But they will be thankful for small blessings in new parties.

Mr. Roosevelt demands a larger navy.

We have so often discussed that with our readers and advocated peace through PREPARATION that we scarcely venture to mention the subject again.

Mr. Roosevelt demands FORTIFICATION OF THE PANAMA CANAL. The Hearst newspapers did more than demand it. The Hearst newspapers brought about fortification of the canal by a campaign that began the instant the impertinent suggestion was made that the new door to our nation should be left unguarded.

Mr. Roosevelt's NEW IDEAS are interesting and they are also dear old friends. They are ideas that will rule in this country eventually—although Mr. Roosevelt may not be at the top of the administration that shall apply all of them or any of them.

Women will vote and have their share in the national work of legislation, taxation, initiative, referendum and recall.

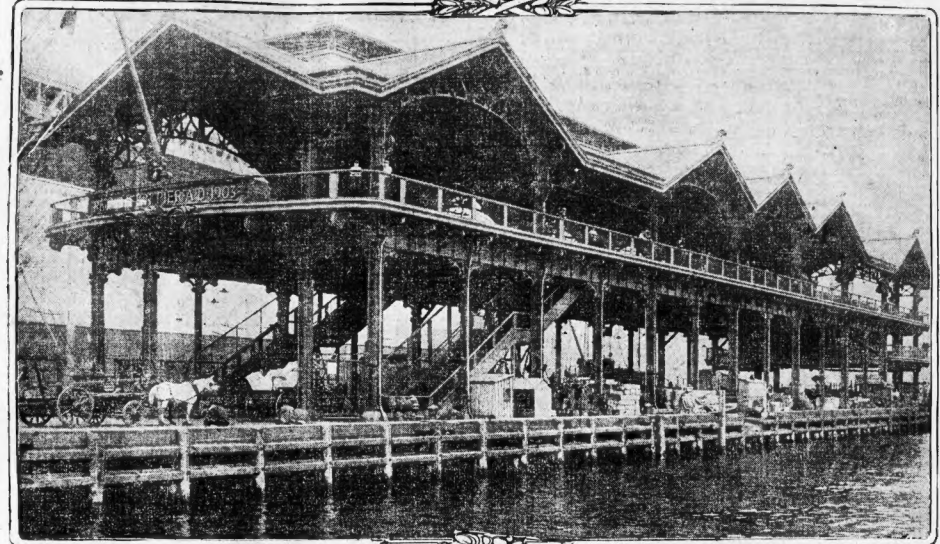

Governments will wisely, judiciously and conservatively acquire more and more control and ownership of natural monopolies.

The public will be strengthened and protected through effective pure food laws.

The government that has hitherto confined its interest in health

ONE OF NEW YORK'S RECREATION PIERS THE TYPE NEEDED IN EAST BOSTON

Where the children of the congested districts can breathe pure salt air and play in surroundings that are healthful, both physically and morally.

New York has ten recreation piers, five on the East River and five on the Hudson, or North River.

East Boston Citizens Have Now a Chance to Speak Their Minds Upon an Issue That Comes Home to Their Doors.

The ball of Opportunity lies, just at this moment, at the feet of the people of East Boston. It is theirs to give it a vigorous kick and send it clear over the goal, or, sit down in listless idleness and allow their opponents to drive the ball in the other direction.

East Boston NEEDS AND SHOULD HAVE a proper and accessible waterfront playground for its children.

The North End has had, for years, a splendid water park right at the doors of its congested population. The good that playground has done the children of the Hanover street district cannot be measured in dollars. That it is in existence is due wholly to the energy, force and persistence of the men who represented the North End at City Hall at the time the project was introduced and carried to accomplishment.

That East Boston should be provided, AND WITHOUT DELAY, with a similar open air playground is plain as the daylight to any man or woman who knows the social conditions under which the children of the Island District are now compelled to live.

The clergy of East Boston know better than anybody of the social havoc, not to say certain future tragedy, of those conditions. But the clergy cannot do everything. The children have no other playground than the streets. And familiarity with street life means sure disaster to the child in the years of maturity.

The police of East Boston know full well of the conditions. But they, too, are helpless. All they can accomplish is to drive the children from post to pillar and from pillar to post, as they patrol their night's beats. They cannot, or they should not, force the children into their heated, ill-ventilated tenement homes these evenings of mid-Summer.

The aroused and organized public opinion of the citizens of East Boston is the one engine that can drive this movement for a waterfront playground to a successful issue.

South Boston enjoys at City Point one of the most magnificent water parks in the world. The South Boston people have only themselves and their able representatives at City Hall to thank for their noble possession.

Similar results can be brought to pass by our friends across the harbor if the people of the district wake up to their own interests.

To bring matters to a practical focus, this newspaper has made plans for a public mass meeting of East Boston citizens to be held tomorrow evening in Lower Commonwealth Hall on Meridian street.

Able speakers have accepted invitations to address the meeting, which is free and open to all. The doors will be opened at 7:30 o'clock.

hogs, young colts, sheep and poultry, will eventually interest itself in the NATIONAL health and do as much for the human baby as it has done for the babies of swine.

Old age will be protected against poverty, against hunger and the sorrows of anxiety. The old will no longer be left at the mercy of grafting politicians managing poor houses. They will be protected and made happy in their old age—and the public will be richer instead of poorer as the result of the transaction.

Labor conditions will be regulated by the nation and wages will be regulated, at least as regards the minimum.

Women, who create the race, will be protected against shamefully long hours, and eventually, let us hope, relieved of all hard, manual labor.

Children will be protected against the vultures that have exploited them and turned their young blood and bones and life into dollars.

These things will be done by men greater and abler than Theodore Roosevelt, by a public, enthusiastic, earnest and enlightened.

These ideas are old, old to our readers, and old to men that died before our readers were born. Every repetition of such ideas is a blessing and a help. And, therefore, Roosevelt taking as his own that which he formerly derided, offering as new that which is as old as human justice, is a public servant and a useful man.

His success or failure is not important. But the success of THE IDEAS upon which he seeks to build another lease of power is vitally important.

And if his personality can bring new thought to bear upon great subjects, if his voice and manner can attract attention where truth and earnestness did not attract attention, so much the better.

He will help to sow the seed and the harvest will be good—WHAT-EVER MAY HAPPEN TO HIM.
